ProDeacid® dietary supplement is rich in vitamins, micro- and macro-elements and the elements necessary for the body to work properly. Fostering the process of detoxification, it helps to regenerate the body and protects it against pathologic changes related to overly high level of toxins in the body. It regulates pH level, which helps to maintain an optimal condition of the body.

Red beetroot extract displays significant alkalizing benefits, therefore it is recommended to all people fighting toxin overload in their bodies. It is rich in well-absorbed vitamins and minerals which allow to restore an acid-base balance and eliminate toxins and heavy metals from the body.

Egg-plant (aubergine) extract effectively detoxifies the body and restores the required pH level. Egg-plant is a good source of fiber, potassium, calcium and magnesium. It assists the process of digestion, and its extract improves metabolism naturally, prevents cardiovascular diseases and promotes the proper level of cholesterol.

Mango fruit extract is a rich source of vitamin C and B-group vitamins which enhance the functioning of the nervous and immune systems. Enzymes present in mango fruit help in the process of protein digestion. Rich mangiferin content - biologically active substance, which positively influences the composition of bacterial flora in the gastrointestinal system.

Kiwi fruit extract contains a lot of vitamins C and E, B-group vitamins, potassium, zinc, phosphor and magnesium. Thanks to cardiac glycoside content, kiwi extract increases heart efficiency and improves circulation. It also protects against free radicals and helps to regenerate damaged cells. Pectin content has a beneficial influence on bacterial flora of the gastrointestinal system and detoxifies the body.

ProDeacid® (protected formulae of antioxidants obtained from the mixture of fruit and vegetable dry extract in varying proportions) helps to remove toxins and heavy metals from the body, simultaneously regulating pH level of the organism.

Grapefruit extract is a rich source of vitamin C and β -Carotene which enhance the immune system. It has a beneficial influence on the heart, regulates the level of cholesterol and blood pressure. Grapefruits are an important ingredient of weight loss diets. It is believed that the grapefruit seed extract improves the composition of bacterial flora in the gastrointestinal system and it helps to detoxify the body.

Common grape vine extract extract is rich in many vitamins, such as: B, C, D, E and PP and micro-elements: boron, calcium, iron, magnesium, potassium and copper, which helps to oxidize the body and detoxifies it increasing its immunity. Thanks to polyphenols, grapes effectively assist the process of detoxification.

Millet sprout extract is a great source of vitamins and minerals. It promotes a healthy function of nervous, endocrine and circulatory systems. It has a rich content of C-, D-, E-, A- and K-group vitamins; magnesium, calcium, phosphor, iron, zinc, iodine, potassium, copper, lithium, selenium, manganese and β -Carotene, Omega-6 fatty acids and fiber.

Scientific opinion on ProDeacid®

"More and more people suffer from problems resulting from overly high level of acidity of their body. These are most often young people, which is very alarming. I recommend ProDeacid® dietary supplement to my patients as an effective way to detoxify the body and restore a healthy level of pH."
