ProMigren® dietary supplement is a perfect source of substances fostering a normal function of the central nervous system. By improving general condition of the body, it increases its immunity against negative external factors. It has a positive effect on production of serotonin and dopamine responsible for proper mental activity.

All ingredients included in ProMigren® dietary supplement naturally support proper function of the nervous system and stimulate the immune system.

Roseroot extract displays the adaptogenic effects increasing the organism resistance to stress and other negative environmental factors. It has a positive influence on memory and cognitive processes. It also facilitates concentration and perception, and mental efficiency. It owes its biological activity to salidroside and rosavin.

Feverfew leaves extract supports the normal function of the nervous system contributing to the reduction of the feeling of weariness and fatigue. It helps to maintain a proper level of mental efficiency. Due to its wide spectrum of effects it has been called a "medieval aspirin".

ProMigren® (protected formulae extracted from Garcinia mangostana) helps in cases of the disordered metabolism in mitochondria and a higher level of energy consumption in the brain tissue. It improves the metabolic processes and eliminates the feeling of tiredness, weariness and drowsiness. It efficiently supports the natural defense mechanisms of the organism, increasing its resistance to harmful external factors.

Riboflavin is necessary for the proper function of the nervous system and it takes part in oxidization and reduction processes. Riboflavin supports optimal energy metabolism.

Evening primrose seeds extract regulates the level of prostaglandins which form in the irritated tissue and stimulate the nerve fibres endings. It protects them against the negative influence of the external factors or stimuli, and it assists the nervous system.

Scientific opinion on ProMigren®

"ProMigren® is a unique, as far as its ingredients and its scope of activity are concerned, dietary supplement which soothes all kinds of neurologic and metabolic disorders. Due to its exceptional formulae of adaptogenic ingredients, it reduces migraine headaches, sensitivity to noise and nausea, and it also improves mood and concentration."
